Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a lens system of which the focus adjustment is made possible without the use of a motor. 2.

Description of the Prior Art In general, when the focus adjustment of a lens system is to be made with the use of a motor, an open-loop type focusing mechanism must be employed. To this end, if the lens system is in the form of a retrofocus lens, it is necessary to use at least two lenses. In this case, if two lens groups are moved, the entire optical system becomes large, and at the same time, the total length of the optical system becomes long. If the optical system is a single lens, the number of the lenses is disadvantageously increased. The Transportation Security Administration used to be able to see on a single piece of film 100 people in a baggage claim line, the agency's chief told lawmakers Tuesday. That was before video-based security scanning was introduced and, more recently, it has been seeing just half of those people. "I want to make sure the public is aware that what they think they see on the video screen is the exact same thing that they saw on the previous video in the past," TSA administrator John Pistole said. "It's really important to be aware of that." The agency needs to collect as much data as possible, he added, "so we can make good decisions about how to improve the process." Tuesday's hearing on the TSA's $9.3 billion spending plan for the next fiscal year focused on the agency's efforts to hire more security officers and on the development of more effective screening methods. The TSA was in the spotlight last year after a Los Angeles Times series revealed that the agency had hired screeners without background checks and 100 DOF kidkeyloggerpro can be considered a 'simple' keylogger which can also take snapshots of the desktop screen every so often (default interval is set to 1 minute). The main window can be used to log various mouse and keyboard events, view logs in various ways and control it remotely. 100 DOF kidkeyloggerpro in action: A few changes were made to 100 DOF kidkeyloggerpro since the previous version. A main window has been added to display current log events, a few tweaks have been made in configuration options and a set of hotkeys were added to help parents perform some remote actions. For example, the hotkeys can be used to show the log window, take a screenshot of the desktop and upload it to a FTP server. 100 DOF kidkeyloggerpro in action (capture): This version is capable of automatically capturing screenshots of the desktop at every defined interval. The resulting screenshots can be resized and saved to a specific location. 100 DOF kidkeyloggerpro in action (log): In this version, the log window can be used to see all recorded events including mouse/keyboard clicks, window focus changes and so on. It can also be configured to view the log in various ways such as displaying the list of events in a tree structure, sorted in chronological order, by a user-defined criteria or by a combination of various criteria (i.e. event type, mouse button, mouse coordinates, time, etc).

100 DOF kidkeyloggerpro in action (remote): The application also supports remote control features in case you want to access it from a remote device.

The hotkeys will help you perform various actions from the remote machine (view configuration, take a screenshot, write the log file, etc).

Description: 100 DOF kidkeyloggerpro is an application which acts as a backdoor for parents to monitor their children during playing sessions. The main window of the program provides some useful controls, including the ability to view log files and take screenshots of the current desktop. The program can also be configured to automatically upload the log file and screenshots to a FTP server every so often. This means that parents can keep an eye on their children's activities even from a remote location. The tool is easy to use and come with a simple, intuitive user interface. All of its configuration options are well documented and can be viewed from within the main window.

Hi, i need help to create apps on salesforce platform and deploy them on cloud. The developed app needs a minimum of 70% functionality and the remaining 30% can be added later. The app should be ready in 2 weeks. I have done this before in other platform. Please let me know if you are interested. We are looking for an IOS/Android developer who can help us with the development of an app which will require the following:

- User

registration/login/registration confirmation - Data entry and calculation of the same - Option to share the data on social networking sites like Facebook and Twitter - Option to save the data to a Google Doc I would like a simple IOS version of a web app. The app is already under development in HTML5 and should contain four pages:

- 1- Home page
- 2- About us page
- 3- Registration page
- 4- Login page

For this, I need a developer who is able to complete this work quickly. I will send the developer a login to the existing app so he can see the
